

State Legislator Talasek's Future Uncertain

Activities Of Temple Law-Maker May Cause Another Big Scandal

Seeking to collect a court judgement in the amount of $64,484.92 from State Representative Rueben Talasek of Temple, a Cameron business man this week was turning evidence collected by himself over to governmental agencies for possible further legal action against the legislator.

Bassel Wilson, plaintiff in the case against Talasek in civil action, gained the judgement against Talasek in Judge O. D. Graham's Milam County District Court last December. The judgement was handed down by the court on December 17, 1956, at which time was the day following the appearance day of the defendant in district court here.

Judgement was granted Wilson on evidence of promissory note mortgages and checks returned to him by a Temple bank and marked "insufficient funds."

Study of the papers for possible further action which may result in filing of criminal charges against the state representative from Bell County is currently being made by District Attorney Bob Nelson and representatives of the attorney general's office in Austin.

These papers turned over to these agencies by Wilson indicate that besides the hot checks and unpaid promissory notes on which judgement was granted, Talasek may allegedly have also sold property on which mortgages were held by other parties.

Original petition seeking judgement from Talasek was filed in Milam County District Court by the plaintiff on July 2, 1956. This judgement later granted by the court sought return for three checks given by Wilson on May 28, 1953, to Talasek in the amounts of $20,000, $23,500 and $10,000 respectively. Upon return of these checks to Wilson by the Temple bank on which they were drawn, each was marked with reason payment was refused as being "not sufficient funds."

Against these hot checks, the defendant had at that time paid a total of $24,614.98 on the debt leaving a total of $28,885.02 still unpaid with interest thereon. A series of notes written during the period from February 10, 1953, through May 27, 1953, were also still partially unpaid. These notes had face values totaling $74,000. Of this total amount, the defendant had paid $45,250 leaving a total of $28,750 still unpaid at the time action was brought. A charge in the amount of $2,537.40 was added to this amount for expense in collecting the debt.

Checks and notes involved were for large sums of money which Wilson loaned Talasek. The later gave Wilson mortgages with accompanying supposedly manufactured certificates of title against automobiles which the plaintiff in the judgement suit said this week he understood to have been on Talasek's automobile lots in Temple.

Wilson this week still had in his possession a paper entitled "Title Card" giving the make and motor number of a vehicle on which he had lent the money. Across the bottom of this paper was the printed words "not a certificate of title."

Wilson says he failed to check each and every certificate of title given him by Talasek because of the large number involved. Wilson said his loans to the Temple legislator were made because he trusted the man and believed in his honesty.

Following receipt last December of the judgement against the lawmaker, Wilson said he still has received no payment on the debt from Talasek.

Having received no payments, he had started action to take possession of the vehicles upon which he held mortgages and found they were no longer in the possession of the Talasek's automobile agency, Wilson said. Some, he said, were even located in junk yards.

His check of the course of events, Wilson says has led to his learning of other companies who had allegedly suffered losses of similar nature from the representative. Possible alleged losses to all concerned may amount to from the amount of the judgement already against Talasek to as high as a quarter of a million dollars or more.

City Advises Police Chief To Enforce City Health Laws

Members of the Cameron City Council with the exception of Councilman Roy Griffiths met late Monday afternoon to study further plans of assuring the city residents and business people of prompt and efficient garbage pickup.

Councilmen present and Mayor Robert Weems advised Police Chief Maynard M. Byers in his patrol of the city that he advise those persons with property littered with trash and garbage to make proper disposition of such.

He was further instructed to advise such persons that those failing to do so would be fined upon for violation of city health laws.

This action was taken by the city council as plans for the new scheme of garbage collection go into effect. These plans are to be carried out with induction of the new packer-type garbage truck into service here.

The new truck was delivered to the city last Thursday, March 7, by Schiller Motors which made the sale of the truck to Cameron on a low bid.

National Guard Enlistment Has New Changes Beginning April 1

After April 1 the local National Guard unit, Battery C, 649th Anti-Aircraft Battalion, will enlist young men who have had no prior military service only if they agree to serve for at least 11 weeks on active duty with the army.

After the first of next year, the requirement will be six months of active duty service.

This change in its enlistment policy was announced by Battery C today after it received a letter from Maj. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson, commanding the 49th Armored Division, to which Battery C belongs. Gen. Johnson's letter gave the substance of the Guard's new enlistment requirements which had been reached through a compromise by the Department of Defense, the National Guard Association and the House Armed Services Committee in Washington.

Most important parts of the program include after April 1 and until October 1, persons between the ages of 17 and 18½ may enlist in the National Guard for 11 weeks of active duty training and the remainder of their military obligation is to spent in the National Guard (Ready Reserve) where active participation will be required.

Beginning January 1, 1958, persons in this 17 to 18½ age group will be required to perform six months of active duty training. Also persons between 18½ and 25 who enlist after April 1 will be required to serve six months of active duty.

Gen. Johnson's letter pointed out, however, that none of these requirements will be in force until April 1. During the next three weeks Guard units may enlist young men between 17 and 18½ years of age without requiring any active duty service from them - just the two-week or two-week and two weeks of summer camp as heretofore.

Spreading TB In Milam Family Leads To Death

One infant died of tuberculous meningitis during the latter part of January. The father who is an active case and has left the state hospital several times was the source.

Examination of the family contacts revealed two other active cases in the mother and a 17 month old child. Application has been made to have these three persons hospitalized, and on March 1, word was received that they have been accepted.

Thirty-eight persons who had suspicious miniature X-rays last summer have been followed up with large X-ray and clinical examination. These with the addition of the 63 followed up last year make a total of 101 out of 170. Fifteen have been found to have inactive or active tuberculosis and two others are still under observation.

Polio shots are again picking up after several months. As of the end of December an estimate showed only 4,620 children out of 11,295 children under twenty have had one or more injections of Salk vaccine. On July 31, 1956, only 4,518 had had one or more injections of polio vaccine.

Therefore, the increase has been only slightly up until the beginning of 1957. In February the Milam County Health Unit gave 120 boosters and 80 new series. Communicable diseases reported during February were streptococcal infections 43 cases, influenza 20, measles 13, chickenpox 5, whooping cough 4, tuberculosis 3, syphilis 2, and chancroid 1 case.

The director attended the annual meeting of the Texas Public Health Association in Houston from March 17 to March 21. Many interesting papers were read and the meeting was both productive of new public health knowledge and also enjoyable.

Regular routine inspections of food and other establishments have been made during the month of February. Some changes in management have been noted since the first of the year.

A program relating to a survey of the schools and school cafeterias of this area has begun. Illumination and other studies will be made in some of the schools as time permits. The sanitarian was in conference with James E. Poore of the Extension Service of A & M College during the month concerning some rodent control work being planned for this area in the near future.

Considerable improvements in the water supply and sewage facilities in the towns of Cameron and Rockdale are underway or in prospect for the near future.

The City of Cameron is at present planning a garbage collection and disposal project. A new packer-type truck and other equipment has been purchased.

The sanitarian attended a one day meeting and demonstration on sanitary storage, collection and disposal of refuse held in Temple during the month. Some 65 people representing some 20 firms and cities attended.

Visitors for the month were Eris Hoes, V. D. investigator, Texas State Department of Health, Austin; Emmet T. Grimes, supervisor Area 29, Texas State Department of Public Welfare, Georgetown, and T. P. Rogers, Division of Sanitary Engineering, Texas State Department of Health, Austin.

FIRST STEP LEADING TO LARGER AND BETTER WATER supply within the City of Cameron is being made above by roustabouts here in the city as they unload 16-inch water mains to be used in connection with the forthcoming water system. Under a $375,000 bond issue passed in a city election last fall, the city will gain improvements and extensions to the present water works including a filtration plant, 16-inch flow line from the river, additional intake pumps, improvements to the dam, conversion of the old settling basin into a storage basin and fire main extensions into unprotected areas. Planned filtration plant will provide Cameron with means of a modern method of purifying water. This water will then be such as to receive approval by the State Department of Public Health. At the present time Cameron is one of few cities with populations of over 5,000 that does not have filtered water meeting state standards. Work on these improvements has been held up as successful bidders on contract to carry out the project awaited arrival in Cameron of necessary supplies. The above pipe is the first major shipment of such materials to arrive here. Arrival of the pipe began last Thursday, March 7.

Fritz Doss was assisted in running a line for a diversion terrace on his farm in the Oak Hill community Monday morning of this week.

This diversion will divert hill water from running over a 25-acre field until it is established to Bermuda grass. This 25-acre field will be fenced out and farmed in corn this year and then followed by oats and vetch until the Bermuda grass takes over.

Rotation Crops

This field will give Fritz four fields that are used in a rotation of hay and pasture. Three of these fields, comprising 72 acres, are about solid in Bermuda grass. Rescue grass and bur-clover cover a

Plant seed treated with

Revolutionary new insecticide—applied by commercial seed treaters—grows into plant, makes cotton deadly to thrips, aphids, mites through first 6 weeks of growth.

Systemic action of Thimet gives plants "built-in" protection. You save the time, money and labor normally required for first six to seven weeks' spraying or dusting.

Protects all parts of all plants during critical early weeks. Ordinary sprays or dusts protect only parts of plants covered by insecticide. But because Thimet actually grows into the plant, it protects every leaf, every stem, right from the start. Plants actually kill insects before they can do damage.

Eliminates problem of timing sprays or dusts. No matter when thrips, spider mites and aphids strike, your cotton stays protected. Even when fields are too muddy for conventional spraying or dusting equipment.

Proved in 3 years of testing... 1 year of grower use. Thimet was developed by American Cyanamid after years of research and experimentation. It has been successfully tested by state and federal experiment stations throughout the south.

How Thimet® works. As plant sprouts from treated seed, Thimet is absorbed and sent to all parts of plant tissue. Entire plant becomes toxic to insects. After Thimet's job is done, it breaks down, leaves no harmful residues in cotton fibre or seed.

TWO SCENES OF A SERIES OF VACANT LOTS in Cameron upon which in the very near future there will be constructed seven one-story duplex residences containing a total of 14 dwelling units. These units will be for non-white residents in the low-income brackets. This is to be the first large scale housing project for this group of people within the City of Cameron and is made possible by the Housing Authority of the City of Cameron. Many of the residents, who will be living in these forthcoming new quarters, are at present unable to afford homes in other than buildings of slum facilities and appearance. This location is on the north side of West 12th Street, just west of the railroad tracks in what will be between the 1000 to 1300 blocks of West 12th Street.

large part of his pastures and with Bermuda grass, this makes almost a year round pasture.

Fritz plans to plant little blue-stem grass on about 60 acres in two different pastures. The blue-stem will furnish grazing on the dead stubbles during the winter and during wet spells when the fields cannot be grazed.

Planting Method

He uses a spring tooth tiller to plant oats on pasture and that is being developed. Four of the teeth are left on the tiller and a fertilizer attachment is mounted above these teeth. Special clamps are made to attach the seed spouts behind the teeth. Oats and vetch are planted and following planting they are fertilized and according to Doss, they should be dug with a harrow to get the seed covered well. The grazed for the past six years, and each little furrow catches the water when it rains. This tillage with fertilizer insures a good grazing crop during the winter and is a great help in getting the bermuda grass going in the spring.

Milam Farmers

B. B. Rains of Gause, Charlie Majors of Thorndale, Jack Crump of Rockdale and possibly a few other cooperators of the Taylor Soil Conservation District will plant weeping love grass this spring.

This grass has been tried before and has done well in deep sand and in dry weather. This grass is not as palatable as most grasses and during the lush season when many grasses and weeds are growing, it may be passed over. However, it remains green during the entire year and at times it is the best tasting grass that can be found.

If this is the only grass in the pasture, cattle will eat it and will make satisfactory gains. It is very hardy and is easy to get up to a stand. It will also withstand heavy grazing.

A. N. Owens has about 15 acres that has been continuously grazed for the past six years. Other than Bermuda grass, Owens likes Weeping Love better than any other grass.

Blue Panic

Blue Panic grass has begun to sprout out and will give good grazing before sudan can be grazed. Gus Schramm planted about 10 acres on his farm near San Gabriel last year and likes it very much. This grass is a cultivated grass and should be planted in rows. It is liked by cattle and makes good hay as well as grazing.

Cloud Contracts

Albert Cloud has contracted for 34 acres of Bermuda grass to be sodd on his farm about three and a half miles South of Rockdale. He will fertilize it with 300 pounds of 10-20-10 per acre and this fall he will overseed it with rescue grass and button bur clover. Fertilizer is very important and should be used with grass plantings.

L and U shaped houses will enable the builder to more fully utilize space on the small lot. Openings will look onto private interior patios, rather than the street.

Mrs. Coker Hostess To Hoyte HD Club

Suggestions for National Home Demonstration Week and county camp plans were made Tuesday, March 5, at a meeting of the Hoyte H. D. Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. Ellis Coker.

Flowers and seeds were exchanged by members. Refreshments of ritz crackers with cheese spread, fritos, pickles, coke and coffee were served to 10 members and two guests.

Top Soil Moisture

Sufficient For Work

Moisture in the top soil is sufficient for field work as of last Friday, March 8. That in the sub-soil remains inadequate according to J. D. Moore, Milam County farm agent.

At the same time, he reported small grain crops as making an excellent growth with no damage to this point of the season.

Livestock conditions within Milam County are good although stock water is not adequate. A few losses from clover bloat have been reported, but a new mineral mix is showing promise in preventing bloat losses.

Concerning Milam commercial vegetables, Moore says some early tomato plants set last week were probably damaged by cold weather. Most tomato plants in this area will be set out during the last half of March.

SCS Column 2scs Little River-San Gabriel Soil Conservation District conservators, who have recently completed construction of farm ponds, are Arthur Burant, three miles south east of Bartlett; Aubrey Messer, five miles southeast of Bartlett; Tom Northern, four miles west of Sparks, and E. B. Cole, two miles southwest of Sparks.

Surface area, depth, cubic yards of fill and acre feet of storage area varies in proportion to the pond site of each of these ponds, says Soil Conservation Service personnel in Bartlett.

They further say that each one of these pond sites were selected on the basis of getting the smallest surface area, the greatest depth and the largest acre feet of storage from the smallest cubic yards of fill possible for the site.

Arthur Burant's pond has a fill of 2180 cubic yards, a depth of 13 feet, a surface area of three-tenths of an acre and a storage area of one and fifty-six hundredths acre feet or approximately 471.30 gallons.

Aubrey Messer's pond has a fill of 2980 cubic yards, a depth of 12 feet, a surface area of five-tenths of an acre, and a storage area of one and fifty-six hundredths acre feet or approximately 788.724 gallons.

Tom Northern's pond has a fill of 2967 yards, a depth of 17½ feet, a surface area of nine-tenths of an acre, and a storage area of six and four-tenths acre feet or approximately 2,005.194 gallons.

E. H. Coker's pond has a fill of 1872 cubic yards, a depth of 10 feet, a surface area of three-tenths of an acre, and a storage area of one and two-tenths acre feet or approximately 394.364 gallons.

It has been carefully figured - a gift of $5 to the American Red Cross will provide travel expenses for approximately 280 of the long miles of a trip home by a serviceman called from duty because of a family emergency.

Now Is Pruning Time For Plants

Winter is pruning time for most plants, reminds Mrs. Alice Hughes, Home Demonstration Agent in Milam County.

It is recommended for practically everything except plants that bloom early in the spring, such as red buds, peaches, other fruits, spirea and flowering quince. Prune those just after blooming.

Remember to prune shrubs for the same reason as landscaping - to improve comfort, convenience and beauty. Cut off limbs that obstruct driveways of walks. Cut the oldest stems of nandina. Cut back pitzer juniper branches to make the plant more compact and easier to live with.

Crape myrtles can be cut back to the ground to make them form a bush rather than awkward shrubs. Now is a good time to move crowded crape myrtles to a better area. The full sun helps keep off mildew and will cause them to bloom more than shaded plants.

Summer flowering shrubs such as althea, butterfly bush and vetex as well as crape myrtle should be pruned now.

More Watermelon Acreage Here According To Current Trends

At the present time it appears that the watermelon acreage in Texas will be considerably larger than average.

Recent rains in the Floresville, Stockdale, Luling area is encouraging extra acreage to be planted. The cotton moisture supply in that area in a little shy but with additional rainfall there can be a normal watermelon crop produced there. This particular section comes just ahead of this area on the market, and has a direct bearing on prices.

Next section is the Normange, Franklin, Rockdale, Camerita Jewett and Lufkin area. In this area also, one finds above average interest and increased intentions to plant. Coming into the East Texas section, we find a substantial increase in all large producing counties. It will not be a surprise to see the largest planted acreage in history for watermelons in 1957.

Planted acreage does not always tell the whole story. Last year, there was a large acreage planted, but drought cut production to the point that prices were satisfactory. Whether writes the production and price ticket.

Florida has a large acreage in watermelons, but melons from that area do not influence Texas markets because the crop moves earlier. Georgia acreage is estimated at slightly above normal. Central Georgia comes along at the same time this locality will be moving melons.

Growers indicate they will plant from 15 to 25 percent of the total acreage in the Charleston Gray variety and the remainder in Black Diamond. The Charleston Grays are being planted largely on land which is subject to wilt disease.

Use Set Purpose Pruning Trees

Prune trees for a purpose. Plan carefully and prune moderately. Severe pruning or "de-horning" can permanently deform and injure trees.

Prune trees to make the place more comfortable, convenient, safe and attractive. Often trees can be shaped to improve their appearance. Low hanging limbs can be pruned off so that the lawn will be open and look more spacious. The health of the tree can be improved by removing dead, diseased or injured limbs.

Use good tools to do the job. A pruning saw and pruning shears are to remove diseased or injured limbs or to nip back high branches to make a tree form a dense shade.

Watch your pruning technique! Make clean cuts, flat or flush with the main limb or trunk. Stubs left by improper cutting may cause rotting of the heart wood. You may need to treat cuts on large limbs by painting with a pruning compound, such as orange shellac, to hasten healing. Most trees make oils to cover small cuts. Generally, horticulturists advise putting nothing at all on a cut 2 inches or less in diameter.

If pruning is done now, spring growth will soon hide the cuts.

Worship together this week

We are well blessed. The doors of our churches and synagogues are wide open... waiting for us to enter. Set aside a time each week... a time apart from the "busyness" of living. You'll find more joy in each day, if you give some time each week to worship.

And the Wolf family here—will you just look at those boys! They're feeling very grown-up and proud as punch, going to a Service with Mom and Dad.

Here's Dave Judson and Bill Miller. Good friends for a good many years now. They hardly ever "talk" religion—they just always find time to get to Services each week.

Ever been a stranger in any town? Then you've known loneliness. And you know how comforting it is to come upon a church or synagogue... where the doors are always wide open to everyone.

The strong trend toward Japanese style architecture will continue. This is a "natural" for combination with the equally popular plank and beam construction. There is a decided Oriental cast to the rhythmic roof arrangement of Southern Pine planks and beams, and the exposed wood ceiling blends nicely with sliding windows, walls and Oriental ornamentation. When good quality grades of Southern Pine are used for this purpose, the structure itself provides much of the decoration.

Local Livestock Auction Sale Gains More Packer Buyers Here

Number of cattle going through the ring at the Cameron Livestock Auction last Thursday, March 7, was 335 head as compared to 577 the previous week with the cold, blustery morning as a major cause in the drop.

There was a good representation in all classes last Thursday with the market very active and in general stronger than on February 28. Demand for butcher calves was steady to strong with prices up on them from 50 cents to $1.00.

Fat cows also showed an increase in prices of as much as 50 cents. Stocker steer and heifer calves were in steady to strong demand and cashed at 50 cents to $1.00 more than at the local sale the previous Thursday. Butcher yearlings and canner and crotcher cows as well as bulls moved on a steady market compared with last week local.

Good cows and calves sold in pairs at steady prices with those of the previous sale but the medium and plainer kinds were a little slower.

Management of the local sale declared during the past week that with local area farmers and ranchers bringing the livestock to the market, they will have the buyers.

This was shown especially on the last sales day at which time there were 55 buyers present including 16 packer representatives. Previously the average run of buyers for packers was 11 in number.

Representatives of the local market buy hogs every day, paying prices on Number 1 butchers based on $1.00 under the Fort Worth Packer top prices. Further information on the hog market can be obtained daily by calling 557. Top hogs last Thursday were bringing $16.25 for weights between 200 and 240 pounds.

Prices last week include $16 to $21.10 for butcher calves and $15.75 to $19.50 for butcher yearlings, stocker steers from $14 to $16.50 and good cows and calves from $120 to $145.

John S. Batte, who began last Thursday as a starter for the Cameron Livestock Auction, says he would like to express his personal thanks to all buyers for their help and to the sellers for their consideration and understanding.

Cameron In '57...

Cameron enters the first months of 1957 with every indication of showing great growth and prosperity for the current year and those to come. Business men and farmers are looking ahead with courage and faith in the city and county.

Vast building facilities of the "Old Batte Oil Mill" have been acquired by a group of local men for the purpose of grain storage space. This means much to Cameron. Local men in financing this project under the name of Milam Grain Company express with their money, their belief and faith in this city.

Such a large supply of maize in the area can and will draw the attention of industries using this grain as a raw material to Cameron for possible location, here. Construction of an unloading pit and renovation of the buildings means work and sale of materials for local concerns. Handling of grain storage areas and of the grain itself means more jobs, more payroll checks.

This business will draw the farmers to the city furthering Cameron's possibilities as an agricultural center.

Our city's future is furthered still by the forthcoming construction of low-rent housing units for both white and negroes. Work will be started this spring for 36 units for white residents and 14 units for negro residents.

Again this is a step toward a better Cameron by persons with faith in the city's future. Both these housing projects are being brought forth by local business men and investors in the Housing Authority of the City of Cameron, which is headed by Chairman N. L. Caperton.

Bids for construction of this work will be opened locally on April 4. Actual work is expected to get underway within a few weeks after this date. Businesses and construction workers locally will benefit but the really great progressive step is better housing for our working men and women.

This housing, which will mean a better standard of living for 50 local families, will also add an attraction to Cameron for industries seeking a new site, for persons seeking a town of promise in which to live and will further the pride of residents already within the city.

Milam's Finest...

Milam County has much for which to be thankful in those boys and girls in FFA and 4-H Clubs and to the leaders of these youths. In local and state livestock shows, they have shown they are among the most capable youths in the state.

Buckholts FFA members returned from the Houston Fat Stock Show and Livestock Exposition after having shown some of the top calves and hogs at the show. Leland Weido had the reserve champion in his calf's weight class and another animal taking third place in the same class. The animal beating his reserve champion went on to be reserve champion of the entire show.

Guided by C. Tittsworth, Weido and other members of the Buckholts Club entered and showed numerous entries in the Houston show. Many took first, second or third place ribbons with their animals or poultry. Other youths within the county are also winning recognition for their towns with their entries in local and state livestock and poultry shows.

Within their own hometowns, citizens are recognizing the value of these boys and girls as shown by the fact that the transportation for the Buckholts FFA entries was provided by Joe Glaser and Joe Zajicek. Cameron's Chamber of Commerce's provision of chicks for numerous county youths in this phase of agriculture is further evidence of the attention shown our FFA and 4-H members.

Yet, there can never be enough done to further the agricultural future of our Milam County youths for of all the boys and girls within the county, this one group will compose the future leaders of our county.

Other county boys and girls win recognition for their work at school in lines of engineering, electronics and professional types of endeavor. However, in later life these boys and girls will leave Milam County to seek jobs and homes elsewhere.

Those now making a success with their FFA and 4-H projects can carry out their desires to be successful farmers and ranchers here at home and as such will be the Milam County leaders of tomorrow.

Equalization Of City Tax...

Members of the Cameron Board of Equalization held their first meeting of 1957 last Monday, March 11. Duty of this group of men is to determine valuations of property within the city upon which city taxes must be paid.

Such a job will gain much criticism for each and every member of the board. There will be variations of renditions on separate properties accepted by the board which will be thrown back into the faces of our board members. We hope their final decisions on Cameron property will be fair and just for all.

Adjustments must be made on property rendered in previous years. This is foreseen by cost of easements paid by the City of Cameron in the last few months on vacant lots and both business and residential property. It is also noted by prices paid by the city for right-of-way. It is only right for owners of such property to have their renditions set at a figure comparable to the price set on the same property for water-line easements and right-of-way sales to the city.

A few feet of right-of-way selling for five to 10 thousand dollars to the city must undoubtedly in a just and fair decision front property with valuations many times that figure. Right to run a waterline across a vacant lot costing the city between 10 and 15 hundred dollars must raise the valuations of that lot from $300 to $400 to several thousand dollars.

Such are only a few of the considerations to be made by the 1957 Board of Equalization. So long as their decisions are fair and just, they can answer any complaint on final property valuations without a troubled conscience.

In composing those final valuations, we must suggest they remember the words of Thoreau, "The one great rule of composition is to speak the truth."

Texans last year played host to 8.4 million out-of-state visitors who spent a total of $379 million while in the state. D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, announced.

A report on the Texas tourist industry for 1956, released by the Texas Highway Department, shows that the average tourist stayed 5.9 days and spent $7.71 per person.

From a study of other states, Texas ranks high as a tourist state, topping the popular state of Florida by more than 4 million visitors last year.

Yellow will be the new favorite in kitchen colors. This is another HOUSE & GARDEN forecast. Squared off kitchens, utensils, also are predicted.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER ALARMED OVER LAW THAT MIGHT KEEP HIM FROM SELLING AT LESS THAN COST

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Little River probably is unnecessarily worried this week, but that's his worry, not ours.

Dear editor: I don't like to be an alarmist, but the Supreme Court is about to decide on an issue that could mean life or death to the farmer.

According to an article I read in a newspaper this morning while I was deciding whether to plow or think — it some times takes me longer than a court to decide such things and if

I didn't do any more thinking than I did plowing this morning, a half day was sure wasted — one big milk company is suing another for selling milk below cost, and the Supreme Court is going to decide whether it's against the law to sell at below cost.

I tell you, let the Supreme Court rule it's unlawful to sell below cost and it'll wreck agriculture.

Ever since farming started, one of the inalienable rights of a farmer has been to sell below cost.

I know there is one theory out in Washington now that the way to eliminate the surplus is to lower the price to where a farmer can't make any money growing whatever is in surplus, but whoever thought up that idea just ain't familiar with farming. When the price drops, all it means is that a farmer has to work twice as hard and produce twice as much to get by. At least that's the way I've found it.

TPA's Anti-Secrecy Legislation Will Help Prevent Another "Duval County"

By-FREDERICK HODGSON

SAN DIEGO, Tex. — Texas law requires certain offices and political subdivisions to publish financial statements in the newspapers. But if they don't, there is no penalty and there is no fixed responsibility for removing from his public post an official who fails to comply. If there is no newspaper in the county independent enough to push the issue, the publications laws are just so much wordy manuscript.

Suppose the people are suspicious of the way the school board or the commissioners court is running things. All they have to do is hold the meetings in secret. Texas has no anti-secrecy law that says meetings have to be open.

In a seved-up, boss-run county there is no danger that the people will come in with an auditor and expose everything. The only way they can do it under existing law is to get an order from the district judge at the direction of the grand jury, or from the commissioners court. This law just assumes that the judge and the commissioners will be honest, upright fellows with nothing to hide and nobody to protect. There is no way for the public to force an audit.

There are plenty of other ways for a smart boss to keep his county sewed up and his supporters happy. Suppose he wants to put the bus stops in front of his friends' stores to help their business. His controlled city council can fix him up quick. The law says that descriptive titles of all city ordinances have to be published in a newspaper. Even if the boss chooses to comply, there's no problem. A "descriptive title" can be anything he wants to make it.

All these loopholes together, and a few more besides, explain how Duval County fell under boss rule and stayed there.

Before going to Duval County, I was frankly a little incredulous when I learned there hadn't been a county audit in forty years in spite of the repeated demands of the county's citizens. I thought the statement that Duvalans asked to see the public records at the risk of their lives, might be an exaggeration. I smiled when I heard that the people in Duval County had been trying for many years to find out when and where their commissioners court held its meetings, and in some cases whether the statutory school boards even existed.

Then I talked with men whose lives were threatened just because they were curious enough to ask questions about the county government. There's a woman in Freer, Texas, who repeatedly asked all the members of the Benavides School board for permission to attend one of their meetings. Her letters were never acknowledged.

The State of Texas has charged that hundreds of thousands of dollars from Benavides school funds were shoveled into private pockets.

John Ben Sheppard, in three years of court battles, became pretty familiar with the Texas Constitution and the criminal and civil statutes as they serve the purposes of dictators. He came out convinced that the best protection against crookedness in office is an alert newspaper backed up with laws. Publication laws. Anti-secrecy laws. Auditing laws. Laws for unworthy men in office. Such a removing public officials who do distortion of its use is not, not keep faith with the people.

Most of all, laws to indict and sentence.

prosecute malefactors outside their own sewed-up counties.

It happened that the conclusions tallied with those of the Texas Press Association, which for several legislative sessions has asked for laws to strengthen the people's right to know what is going on in government. President of that group is David C. Leavell, publisher of the Galveston News-Tribune. Under his guidance the TPA is pushing 15 bills "for better government" at this legislative session, most of which are aimed at plugging the loopholes that made Duval County possible.

TPA members, by and large, believe Duval County is a warning of worse things that can happen unless the people of Texas act. Chief among these are probably Russell W. Bryant, publisher of the Italy News Herald, who is TPA's Legislative Committee chairman, and W. R. Beaumier who publishes the Lufkin Daily News, and is vice chairman.

Sheppard is quick to say that the TPA's bills are proposed just because of Duval County, which he says would be a case of the tail wagging the dog.

"The defects in the law that we found in Duval County were not new discoveries," he says. "They have been there for decades and longer. The Duval County business simply shows what can happen in any of the 254 counties of Texas if something isn't done about the loopholes."

The bills which Sheppard and TPA think would improve and safeguard the quality of government in Texas are simple.

One of them would make it possible for persons charged with embezzling or mismanaging public funds to be indicted in any county adjoining the county where the offense occurs, or in Travis County.

Such a law would keep crime and punishment apart from local politics. This "outside indictment" is already provided by law in rape cases, so it isn't new.

Another proposed law would require District or County Attorneys to file suit for recovery of misapplied funds in any political subdivision of the state within their jurisdiction, with or without the permission of the governing body. Another would make an audit of the records mandatory when 30 percent of the qualified voters petition the District Judge.

An anti-secrecy bill is included in the bunch, requiring that all meetings of official bodies be open to the press and public except as now otherwise provided by law.

There are a few cases in which such as when job applicants are being considered. In all other cases, as Sheppard puts it, there is no business in public office that is not the public's business.

If one of the TPA bills goes into effect as law, public officials who stand on the Fifth Amendment and refuse to answer questions about their official conduct would be removed from office. Sheppard maintains that this is not inconsistent with the Constitution.

"The Fifth Amendment is a guarantee that a person does not have to incriminate himself in a criminal proceeding. It was never intended to shield bad office-holders from just criticism or to keep unworthy men in office. Such a removing public officials who do distortion of its use is not, not keep faith with the people.

Maybe a law keeping big milk distributors or drygoods stores or grocery stores from selling below cost will work, but you apply it to farming and you've opened up know the experts are always recommending that farmers keep accurate records on every step they take and every hour of work they do so they'll know whether they're making a profit on any given crop, but when a farmer doesn't, he's not so dumb. It's bad enough to work all year and sell our crop for less than it cost, without having a set of figures laying around to remind you of it.

All I've got to say to the Supreme Court is that if it rules it's unconstitutional to sell at less than cost, how's a farmer going to make a living? What's he going to do with all that stuff he raises.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bigger homes, better constructed can be expected. As it deserves, quality of structure will be a top priority item, more so than in the past. In this connection, well seasoned, properly graded lumber is a "must," and grade-marked lumber will be in demand because of the protection aspects. When Southern Pine is grade-marked, the user has assurance that it is properly seasoned, and meets other standards of manufacture and grade.

A total of 3.1 million vehicles carrying an average of 2.7 persons each entered Texas in 1956. California again led the list of out-of-state visitors by sending 1,223,000 to our state. Louisiana was second by sending 654,000 to our state.

RICE is the basic food of half the world's population.

A number of laws governing publications would protect the people against bad government, the TPA says. One would require the full text of city ordinances to be published, not just a descriptive title. All offices, boards, agencies and commissions on all levels of government would be required to publish an annual financial statement under another proposed bill, and there is a related bill which would authorize the removal of any official who failed to publish this or any other required information. With still another TPA bill providing for the removal of any official who refuses to show his records, things may be getting tough for officeholders who have anything to hide.

There are provisions, too, for stopping the flow of State funds to school districts and other political subdivisions which fail to file and publish reports according to law. According to Sheppard, misappropriation of funds in Duval County was so rife that it didn't stop immediately when the State moved in. Efforts to cut off the flow of money to the Benavides school district until "lost" records were found and the money was better accounted for failed for lack of a law under which the State could control the flow of its own funds.

So, another of the 15 bills in the Better Government packet would make it unlawful to steal, conceal, alter or deface a public record—penalty three to seven years—with indictment and venue lying in the county of the offense, any adjoining county, or Travis County.

When you stop to think about it, there are ways of withholding public information from the public which are sanctioned by law. A lot of folks believe precinct, county and state political conventions are public business from which reporters, at least, should not be arbitrarily excluded. You couldn't very well let the public in, lest the bona fide delegates get lost in the milling crowd. But a TPA proposal at this legislative session would allow the presence of the press, radio and TV — "that the people may know."

The need for this legislation is statewide, TPA believes, but if you want a Duval County illustration, there are plenty. Residents tell how they were forcibly excluded from political conventions if they didn't like the Duke and his candidates. They took to hold conventions of their own, they were raided by goon squads. Since the TPA came out with a proposal to admit the press and TV to such conventions, Duvalans speculate on what would have happened to the goons if they had come in swinging their carbines and found themselves on statewide television, and their pictures in the newspapers.

Franz Rosenwald and I talked to a lot of people in South Texas. We had heard about the "better government" bills that Sheppard and the TPA were urging upon the Texas Legislature two years ago, and the ones they are urging now.

"No," one of these South Texans said, "more laws wouldn't have stopped George Parr. With or without laws, he would have been Duke of Duval."

I looked at Rosenwald. He does not know everything about laws or dictators, or South Texas. But he lived under the Nazis and the Russians, and he says there's nothing unique in this Duval County history. It's all so painfully familiar.

When the South Texan said, over a cup of coffee in the Alcee hotel, that laws don't stop the world's little dictators, Rosenwald said, "You want to bet?"

FROM VACANT LOTS TO BEAUTIFUL HOMES for 36 low-income white families in Cameron will be the destiny of space shown in the two above pictures and now cluttered with trash and barren land. This site is located just off the intersection of Washington Avenue and Country Club Road. There will be in the very near future 18 one-story duplex residences containing the 36 new dwelling units. Also on this location site will be one Management and Maintenance Building. Bids are currently being received by the Housing Authority of the City of Cameron, which is the organization handling development of local housing projects for both white and non-white low-income families. The two sites are not adjoining. These developments will give Cameron a modern housing project on both the east and west sides of the city. Contractors are to bid on both projects as though it were to be a single job. Bids are to be opened in the office of the local housing authority at 2 p.m. Thursday, April 4. Work on both projects is expected to get underway about 30 days after the letting of the work contracts. N. L. Caperton of Cameron is chairman of the housing authority.

A Tribute -- To Girl Scouts!

When Judy, Jane and Barbara don their Girl Scout uniforms, they are not merely putting on different clothes. They are becoming part of a world-wide crusade for health, mental stimulus and good citizenship which builds character and fine womanhood. So we salute the Girl Scouts of this community and wherever they may be participating in their expertly directed movement. They have fun, bless them, and with it all they learn to use their hands, their youthful heads, and above all, their innocent hearts. Your girl, too, should be a happy, healthy member of the Girl Scouts!

For more than 30 years, the South African Red Cross has cooperated with its nation's mining industry in training miners to give emergency help to injured workmates. In the last complete fiscal year, more than 53,000 non-European workers attended the special practical first aid course.

At Corpus Christi, Kenneth Perry, 8, used his toy printing press to publish eight copies of a story about the death of a parakeet. He sold each copy for five cents, added a dime to make a total of 50 cents, then donated full amount to the Red Cross.

How come the new Ford rides so smooth and solid?

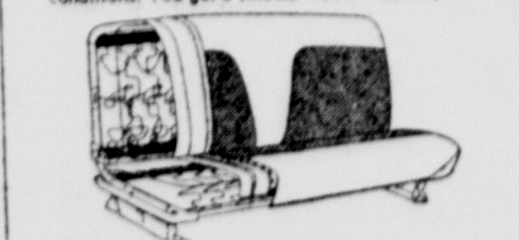

It's the new inner Ford that gives you a big-car ride at low Ford prices

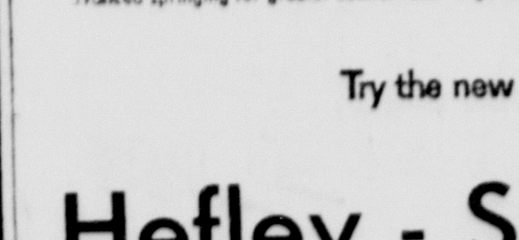

Folks just naturally love Ford's lower, sleeker silhouette. And they love Ford's new Thunderbird V-8's and Mileage Maker Six. But the thing that's really got 'em buzzing is Ford's new ride. In the new kind of Ford, vital riding features team up to give you the smoothest going in the whole ride world. For example:

New automatic variable-rate rear springs
Going from a highway to a byway in a Ford, is like going from satin to silk. New design allows Ford's rear springs to "soften" or "stiffen" depending on road conditions. You get a smooth ride all the way!

New swept-back Ball-Joint front suspension
Ford's new, stronger front suspension is designed to soak up the shock of rough roads. The new swept-back design lets wheels "roll" with the bump and absorb it going away... for a smoother, steadier sailing.

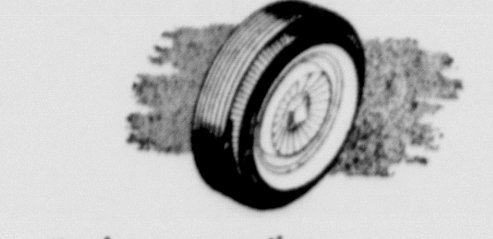

More comfortable seating
There's no sag when you sit in a Ford... even on long trips. Comfort contoured seats, rigidly anchored, have advanced springing for greater comfort and longer life.

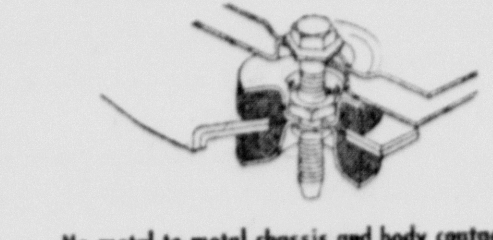

More weight and length
Head for the roughest road in the new kind of Ford. Notice how the biggest bumps lose their "thump"! One reason is that this biggest, longest, heaviest Ford has the extra "leaf" to give a smooth, road-hugging ride.

Better balance
One of Ford's nicest back-road habits is to make believe the rough spots aren't there. Proper weight distribution and precise balancing let Ford iron out bumps for better than many of the higher-priced cars.

New lower-pressure tires
Even Ford's tires are new for a better ride! Although they require less air pressure, they hold about 17% more air for cushioning the car. This means a softer ride—without sacrifice of Ford's good handling characteristics.

No metal-to-metal chassis and body contact
Only Ford in its field uses 20 Cushion Quiet rubber body mounts... more than any other low-priced car. It all adds up to a smoother, quieter riding car.

Try the new kind of ride in the new kind of Punch dough down and let it rest 10 minutes before rolling out 1/4 inch thick. Spread with filling; roll it up as for jelly roll, and cut off 1-inch slices. Place cut side down on greased baking sheet 1 inch apart. Cover, let rise until light. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

FHA Girls Open Litterbug Fight

Committee for distribution of these bags is composed of Sandra Smith, Geri Koledeczek, Annett Mees, Norma Rummel, Nancy Buchanan, Kay Pernice and Mary Sue Shumate.

Deferred Grazing Program Bill To Have Hearing Monday, March 18

A Senate subcommittee on agriculture will hold hearings Monday, March 18, on Senator Lyndon Johnson's bill to establish a deferred grazing program for hard-hit pasture lands in Texas and other drought disaster areas.

Senator Johnson's bill would authorize annual payments to farmers and ranchers in drought-stricken areas for keeping stock off pastures until the grass can recover from drought conditions. The payments would be roughly equivalent to the normal rental value of their grazing lands.

Similar legislation has passed the House of Representatives, sponsored by most members of the Texas delegation.

"The recent rains in Texas have made action on this bill more urgent than ever," Senator Johnson said. "The rains will cause some grass to appear. This will offer a strong temptation for our stockmen, who have seen no grass at all for so long a time, to turn their livestock into the pastures."

"It is important that these pastures be allowed to reseed themselves during the next few years. Otherwise, they will never again be as productive as in the past. Their full potential productivity will be needed in the years ahead if our livestock industry is to make a comeback from the disaster of the dry years."

The Wee Hours

By Your Police Reporter

It was late at night recently when an employee of a local radio station entered Cameron Police Headquarters to inquire as to the location of an automobile accident which supposedly had occurred several miles outside the city limits.

He told members of the police force he had received a call at the station informing him of such a major highway catastrophe. It being so late at night, he had then loaded his car with tape recorders and other necessary apparatus for getting an on-the-scene broadcast. Prior to arriving at the City Hall, he had driven a few miles looking for the wreck.

Police advised the youth to either return to his work or to go home and to bed as they had received no news of such an accident. He was upset when they made no attempt to learn of a possible wreck and left the police station mumbling to himself; not knowing that just before he entered the station, another youth and friend of himself had been there to learn the result of the call he had made concerning a fictitious wreck.

Cotton Team To Speak Here

A cotton team from A&M College will present the program for the general membership meeting of the Milam County Farm Bureau next Thursday, March 21.

This team is composed of Fred C. Elliott, cotton works specialist; Dr. Freeman Fuller, Jr., entomologist, and Joe R. Jones, assistant agricultural engineer specializing in the ginning of cotton. O. G. Tumlinson, president of the bureau, will preside at the meeting and introduce the three speakers, who will show slides on planting, growing and harvesting cotton.

The organization president says he particular urges all bureau members and any farmers interested in growing cotton to attend this meeting to gain the information concerning this major crop which the A&M speakers are making available.

Refreshments will be served by members of the program committee.

Milam County Draft Board Has April Quota For Five Inductees

Milam County Local Draft Board has received its April quotas for induction and preinduction physical examination.

Orders will not be mailed until approximately 21 days from the reporting date. The April induction call is for five men on April 23 and 14 for physical examination on the same day.

A group will leave Cameron on Thursday, March 14, for induction and physical examination. This group is scheduled to leave the bus station in Cameron at 10:30 a.m. and arrive in Dallas at approximately 3:30 p.m. Those to be examined will be held overnight and returned to their homes the next day.

According to a Selective Service publication, the Department of Defense issued a call for the induction in April of 13,000 men—1,000 fewer than the number requested for March. The Department of Defense reports a downward trend in its call is due to improved enlistments and reenlistments. The calls for November through January were 17,000 a month, and those for February and March were 14,000.

The board has started mailing letters to its 392 I-A registrants, requesting that those who have overlooked to report changes in status, do so at once. These letters are very important and registrants should take careful note of the contents, but they are not new, as the requirements cited therein are only those which have existed since the beginning of the 1948 Selective Service Act.

If any registrant has overlooked reporting some of these changes, they are requested to report them without further delay. There will be no penalty for late reports, but penalties may result in the cases where changes are never reported. Those registrants who have not had any of the changes in status referred to in their letters need not report to the board, but should refer to the letter from time to time and report the changes in the future as they occur.

Young men who are participating full time in apprentice training programs may qualify for deferment as apprentices provided that the program is accepted for deferment purposes by the State Director of Selective Service. In addition, the program sponsor must submit a written request for the deferment, certifying that other requirements are being met by the registrant.

U. S. Savings Bonds
Are Indestructible!

Everything, they say, comes out in the wash. And this photograph shows how a U. S. Savings Bond left in a man's shirt pocket came out after a session with the wringer. But its value hadn't shrunk a bit. The U. S. Treasury replaced it—as it has nearly a million other Bonds which were mutilated, stolen, lost or destroyed.

Savings Bonds have been wrung through wringers, destroyed in fires, chewed up by dogs, goats, cows and probably children. But their owners never lost one penny. The Treasury keeps a record of all Bonds purchased and replaces them without charge in case of mishaps. What's more, the Treasury issues the Bond with its original date so you don't lose a penny of interest either.

U. S. Savings Bonds are not only safer than cash but one of the best investments you can make. Your government guarantees the principal—up to any amount—and the rate of interest you receive.

You'll be surprised at how your savings accumulate when you invest regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds.

So start buying Bonds today—either on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or at your bank. And make your Bond buying a regular habit. It's one that will bring your family greater security.

U. S. Savings Bonds strengthen the security of your family, your community, your country.
